With over 25 years of expertise in filtration, Comline is the first choice for countless aftermarket customers around the world. Over 1800 references covering air, cabin/carbon, fuel and oil filter categories for all popular European, Japanese and Korean applications, Comline's filter offering is among the biggest and best anywhere in the world.

In this feature we're focusing on one of our most popular, fast-moving part numbers – EAF818. This popular air filter caters for a wide range of VAG Group applications across its Audi, SEAT, Škoda and VW brands and, like all Comline filters, is designed to exacting standards to keep the engine clear of dirt, debris and other contaminants.

EAF818 is a must have part number that is expected to 'fly off the shelves'. Much like EAF501, which caters for the equivalent, older VAG Group models, EAF818 will be a big seller and deliver profitable results for your business.
